SCDEW Signs on to Twitter

*Columbia, SC...*The SC Department of Employment and Workforce (DEW) joins many other state agencies on Twitter, the fastest growing micro-blogging site, to keep individuals up-to-date on news, legislation, job fairs and more.

Twitter is a free micro-blogging service that enables its users to send and read messages known as tweets. Tweets are text-based messages of up to 140 characters displayed on the author's profile page and delivered to the author's subscribers who are known as followers. Although space seems limited, tweets can include links to documents elsewhere on the Internet.

The DEW will post news about agency programs, updates about new information that is published to the DEW website and important information for claimants and job seekers. The DEW's twitter feed can be found at <https://twitter.com/SCDEWinfo>.
